GREEK LANGUAGE INSTITUTE - CHANIA, GREECE

ABOUT THE SCHOOL AND THE CITY

The NRCSA Center is an internally accredited independent language center with its headquarters in the center of Athens, near the Athens University, the Polytechnic School, the National Library, and the Archaeological Museum. Founded in 1975 with its main objective being the development of efficient methods of teaching Greek as a foreign language. Our center is a part of a large group of private educational institutions, Delta Training & Development Ltd.

All teachers have obtained university training and all are native speakers. They have had special training in teaching Greek as a foreign language as well as using audio-visual teaching material. Individual attention to each student is of great importance to ensure maximum understanding. Both teachers and staff are available to provide support and assistance to students.

Chania (Hania) is located on the northwest coast of Crete. This is a picturesque city and walking through Chania means coming across Minoan remains as well as Byzantine, Venetian, Ottoman and Neoclassical landmarks left by the different civilizations which flourished on the island and have been kept alive in the traditions and customs of the inhabitants.

The Venetian harbor of Chania is ringed with restaurants, taverns, cafeterias and ouzo bars. From there and through narrow streets the city invites visitors to its mysteries. The city also boasts the Archaeological and the Historical Museums, Venetian churches, Greek churches with old Byzantine frescoes, the Municipal Market, and the Halepa Quarter.

Summer courses, mid June to mid September, are also held in the city of Chania which is located on the northwest coast of Crete. Program & Admission Information - Chania, Greece

Programs

The educational program has been designed to develop the four language skills: reading, writing, speaking and listening, together and with equal weight. The use of textbooks in the classroom is accompanied by audiovisual aids which present to students realistic, everyday situations. At the same time, through practical oral and written simulation the students manage to become familiar with the material taught.

Self study photocopied material is provided for those wanting to extend their practice with extra assignments. These students are assisted by the staff and corrected assignments are returned.

The daily program begins at 9.00 and last until 13.00(1:00PM). During the fifteen minute breaks students can have a Greek coffee at the cafeteria. The educational program is not limited by the standard sense of the word "lesson". It is also combined with individual or team projects, visits to museums and walks in the city. Students have the opportunity to use the library, computers and language laboratories with the guidance of their teachers.

The local staff will contact the student after they arrive on the Sunday prior to the first day of class. The purpose of the call will be help familiarize the student with the city and to answer any immediate questions they may have upon arrival. New students are provided with a 'Welcome File' which contains books, charts and other important information about the city such as travel, eating out and cultural events.

On the first day of lessons the students become familiar with the NRCSA Cetner and the surrounding area. All students, except for the beginners, take a short placement test on the first day as well in order to determine their level of Greek.

There are eight course levels offered:

- Beginner
- Elementary
- Intermediate I
- Intermediate II
- Advanced I
- Advanced II
- Higher I
- Higher II

Each level is covered within 40 teaching hours.

On the last day of the program students take a final test that examines their progress and knowledge of the language. Students are given a certificate of studies which certifies the successful completion of the relevant language level, the duration of the course, and the student's performance in the final examination. The program ends with an exchange of presents and a traditional meal with Greek food and drinks.
